AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

The American Numismatic Association is the largest and most active numismatic body in the world. It invites and welcomes to membership all worthy persons seventeen years of age or over, who have a sincere interest in numismatics, whether they collect coins, paper money, tokens or medals, whether advanced collectors or only those generally interested in the subject without being collectors. The Association was founded in 1891, and has over 20,000 members from every state in the Union and many foreign countries. It is federally incorporated by an Act of Congress in 1912 and is a mutual organization for the benefit of its members.

All Association members, except Associate, receive the official publication, The Numismatist, without cost other than their annual dues. Membership applications should be accompanied by $5.00 for the first year's dues and $2.00 admittance fee. Annual dues are $5.00. Nonmember subscription, $6.00. Single copy, fifty cents. For application blanks, subscriptions or general information, write to the General Secretary.

The Numismatist is an illustrated monthly which has been issued continuously since its founding in 1888, consists of 128 pages or more in each number and has subscribers in about sixty countries. THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA:

Its Monetary Problem

By

TED N. WEISSBUCH, A.N.A. No. 24814

ONE OF THE first problems which faced the newly-formed Confederacy in February, 1861, was the question of what was to be circulated as money. The idea of using Federal coins and paper currency was not appealing because of strong Southern nationalism, though, as we shall see, because of extensive flooding of the South with unbacked currency, the lack of confidence in Confederate paper money resulted in hoarding of Union money. To sustain morale, it was necessary to supply the people of the new nation with its own national symbols.

The cementing of Southern unity would be tremendously aided by a coinage proclaiming the existence of the Confederate States of America. As a psychological weapon, such a coinage — and paper currency — could do much to build the reputation and aid in the international recognition of the Confederate States. Here would be visible evidence that this was not merely a backwoods rebellion, but the unified desire of a large segment of former United States citizens to be independent. There have been many descriptive catalogs and books, as well as articles, which list and describe the numismatic remains of the Confederate States, but little attention has been devoted in numismatic circles to the overall monetary problems faced by the Confederacy, an important reason for the latter's failure.

On February 19, 1861, the day following his inauguration, President Jefferson Davis of the Confederate States of America selected Christopher Gustavus Memminger of Charleston, S. Caro., as his Secretary of the Treasury. The job was to prove a difficult one; Treasury problems began on the day Memminger accepted the position and did not end even after he was forced to resign in June, 1864. Nor was the job any easier for George A. Trenholm, who succeeded Memminger and remained Confederate Secretary of the Treasury until the end of hostilities, when the unsuccessful rebellion left the South overwhelmed with depreciated, counterfeit and worthless stacks of notes. This failure to provide a circulating medium which retained the trust and respect of the people was to prove an important factor in the failure of the Southern Cause.

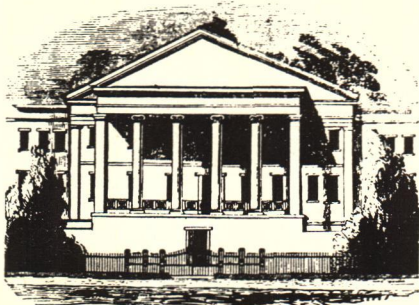

Memminger, a lawyer, had served in the South Carolina House of Representatives as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Historians have never agreed about his ability for the tremendous job of directing the finances of the Confederacy. Of his fitness, Jefferson Davis wrote:

Mr. Memminger of South Carolina had a high reputation for knowledge of finance. He bore an unimpeachable character for integrity and close attention to duties, and on the recommendation of the delegation from South Carolina, he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury and proved himself entirely worthy of the trust.¹

On the other hand, Memminger was criticized for his handling of Confederate finances almost from his first day in office. General Joseph E. Johnston, in his Memoirs, published in 1874, placed the blame for the failure of the Confederate cause on Memminger and his poor management of the Treasury. Memminger answered Johnston's charges in a letter which appeared in the

U. S. Mint in New Orleans

Charleston Courier on March 27, 1874:

At the commencement of the government the Treasury had not funds to pay for the table on which the Secretary was writing; the first purchases of the Government made abroad were made on the private draft of the Secretary. . . . There was not to be found, in the whole Confederacy, a sheet of bank-note paper on which to print a note. Forecasting this need, the Secretary had ordered from England a consignment of note paper and lithographic materials, the vessel containing which was captured on the high seas; and many of the friends of the late Colonel Evans . . . will remember that he nearly lost his life in the attempt to bring across the lines a single parcel of note paper.²

The story of the first days of the Confederate Treasury Department is told in Hendrick's Statesmen of the Lost Cause. With no experience to guide him in so huge a responsibility, Memminger fumbled along at first, doing the best he could. Soon after the opening of the office, an order from President Davis was brought to the Treasury office by a Confederate colonel. Memminger was asked to supply funds for fitting out one hundred men. Memminger was not present at the time, but Henry D. Capers, his assistant, and later, his biographer, reached into his own pocket and pulled out five or ten dollars in Federal currency. He remarked, "This is all the money there is in the Confederate Treasury at present." Memminger, however, was later able to arrange for a small loan with a local bank, using his name as a personal guarantee.

Although much money was to pass through Memminger's department, the Confederate Treasury was destined to remain as financially shaky as this story suggests. But considering the handicaps under which he was required to operate, Memminger did as good a job as might be expected. He was forced to face each adverse condition with only his localized, state-learned financial experience.

Memminger's reputation had been made, ironically, by his attacks on paper money. "For years anything suggesting wildcat currency or inflation had riled him. His efforts . . . had lifted South Carolina from the financial morass in which most Southern and Western states were sunk in the fifties, and had made its banks a name of honor throughout the Union."³ It seems paradoxical today that he should be remembered as the figurehead of an organization that flooded the South with paper which eventually became worthless. He was later to be called the main cause for the financial bankruptcy of the Confederacy. Though Jefferson Davis never lost faith in him, a Confederate Congress resolution in May, 1864, called for Memminger's removal from office. The resolution did not question his honesty or patriotism, but suggested that a more able financier was needed to handle the many monetary problems of the Confederacy. But George A. Trenholm fared no better after he replaced Memminger in the thankless job.

One of the first acts of the states under the Confederate government was to seize Federal property. Following secession, Louisiana had taken control of the Federal Mint at New Orleans. Soon afterwards, Georgia seized the Dahlonga Mint and North Carolina captured the Charlotte Mint. All of the coining equipment and bullion at each mint was also confiscated. The Confederate Congress, on March 9, 1861, passed a resolution for the continuance of operations at New Orleans and Dahlonga (which coined only gold during its entire operational life). The resolution also requested that "the Secretary of the Treasury . . . estimate and report to Congress the lowest amount of appropriation necessary to carry out the . . . resolution."⁴

Memminger queried the mint officials, who believed that the cost of operation would exceed their income. Memminger then recommended to Congress that operation of the mints be suspended, and they were, on May 14, 1861. Before the suspension, however, the State of Louisiana had struck 1,240,000 half dollars at the New Orleans Mint from the Federal 1861 dies.⁵ There was immediate agitation in the Confederacy, as explained above, for a coinage which would help express the patriotic sentiments of the new country. William A. Elmore, Superintendent of the New Orleans Mint had written to Memminger on March 6, 1861:

When the Government of the Confederate States assumes active control over the operations of this institution, I assume that it will require new dies, with new devices and inscriptions. To procure them will require time. Would it not be well to commence preparations for the new state of things?

I wish [Memminger answered Elmore] you would see some of the persons in New Orleans, who deal in engravings or designing, and procure some designs from them for the various coins and send them here immediately. I would suggest to them to design something new and appropriate to the South, leaving to the North the Eagle and its counterpart.⁶

During April, 1861, Elmore forwarded to Memminger coin designs which had been submitted to him by the National Bank Note Company of New York and Messrs. Gallier and Esterbrook, architects with offices in New Orleans. The design suggested by the latter, although never adopted, certainly illustrates the strong Southern sentiments of the time:

the other links represent, right and left, the other States in the order of their secession: the remaining blank lines are an invitation to the border States to hasten to inscribe their names within the circle. The stars of the Confederate States are distinct: those of the border States are in the twilight, but visible, soon, we hope, to stand out as boldly as their neighbors. In the center is inscribed the monogram, composed of the letters C.S.A. Twenty dollars has been printed to represent the denomination of the coin. Of course, the design is adaptable to any denomination of our coin.⁷

No patterns of this design have ever been uncovered, so it is safe to assume that nothing was done about as chief coiner at New Orleans and had, with Memminger's permission, commissioned A. H. M. Peterson, an engraver and die sinker, to prepare a new Confederate reverse for the United States half dollar. When the die was finished, the mint workers discovered that it would not fit the Mint's coining press. The reason for this is not explained in Taylor's letter, but it is known that loyal Federal officials had sabotaged much of the machinery and had also defaced or destroyed most of the dies before the states took over the three Southern mints.

Four coins were struck on an old hand screw press after the reverses

the suggestions of the architects; but, as is well known, a Confederate half dollar was struck.

The existence of this half dollar was not generally known until 1879. The story surrounding the coin is interesting and worth repeating. What makes the Confederate half dollar most significant is the fact that it was struck with the authoritative Federal obverse and an entirely new Confederate States of America reverse. "Such a unique combination of the official devices of two great opposing powers probably has not another parallel in history."⁸ The coin was rediscovered in January, 1879, when a Philadelphia numismatist, E. Mason, Jr., wrote a coin article for a New York newspaper. Dr. B. F. Taylor, then secretary and treasurer of the Louisiana State Board of Health, saw the article and wrote Mason that he had a Confederate coin and die in his possession. Taylor had served as four regular United States half dollars were ground off. The four coins were distributed in the following manner: "One . . . was given to the Confederate government, probably . . . the one which Jefferson Davis is said to have owned. The second coin was presented to Professor Biddle of the University of Louisiana; the third to Dr. E. Ames of New Orleans, and the fourth was kept by Chief Coiner Taylor."⁹

Mason purchased the hitherto unknown, or at least unremembered coin and die from Taylor in 1879 and wrote a letter of inquiry to Jefferson Davis, who answered:

I had a Confederate coin. It was in my wife's trunk when it was rifled by the Federal officers on board the prison ship on which she was detained at Hampton Roads before and after my confinement in Fortress Monroe. The coin, some medals and other valuables were stolen at that time. Whether the coin be the same which has been offered to you as a duplicate, I cannot say. It is, however, not true, as published, that it is now in my possession.¹⁰

The Confederate reverse of the half dollar pictures a Liberty cap above a shield containing seven stars, each of which represents a seceding state. This design is surrounded by a wreath of sugar cane and cotton in bloom, and the legend CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA HALF DOL. Three of the four original half dollars are known to exist. One is in the collection of the American Numismatic Society and another is owned by the well known numismatist, Eric P. Newman, of St. Louis, Mo. Newman informed the author that his specimen was originally found in circulation by Marks Jacobs, of Rondout, N. Y., about 1880 when he received it in change at a bank. It passed through several collections, including that of Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the famous Hetty Green. The authenticity of this coin has been established by virtue of its weight, which is more than any of the Scott restrikes discussed below. Also, Newman's coin shows no tool marks on the reverse, though they do appear on the restrikes as a result of the smoothing of the Federal design.

The existence of a third of the original Confederate half dollars came to light recently when a numismatist in Greensboro, North Carolina reported in the September, 1960, issue of The Numismatist, that a plastic holder containing the original half dollar and two of the restrikes, plus some additional coins, was stolen from his home. Also attached to the stolen plastic holder, according to the victim of the burglary, was a Confederate New Orleans mint envelope containing a note from Memminger suggesting that the coin be kept "wrapped up." This third of the original four coins was discovered under the fireplace of an old house being torn down near England, Ark. It is hoped that the publicity accompanying the Civil War centennial celebration will result in the recovery of the plastic holder, as well as the rediscovery of the fourth, still missing Confederate half dollar.

As a footnote to the above, Mason sold the reverse Confederate die in the late 1870s to a New York coin dealer, J. W. Scott, who obtained five hundred of the 1861 New Orleans Mint half dollars. Scott ground off the reverses and stamped them with the Confederate die. These restrikes are also valuable numismatic items, though not so rare, of course, as the originals. Scott also struck an additional five hundred tokens with the Confederate die. The reverse of these tokens contain his advertisement. In April, 1881, the American Journal of Numismatics reported that the "mutilated" Confederate half dollar die had been sold at auction for five dollars from the Bates collection. In recent years, two "replicas" of the reverse have appeared, one with a profile of Robert E. Lee on the obverse, and the other with the Confederate seal. Both are common and inexpensive; they are sold by most coin dealers.

Other attempts were made to establish a Confederate coinage. Senator T. J. Semmes of Louisiana introduced a bill authorizing "the coinage of copper token money in denominations of one, five, ten, and twenty-five cents to the amount of five million dollars."¹¹ While the Confederate Senate passed the bill on September 25, 1862, the House of Representatives never acted upon it. The Senate, a year later, prepared a similar bill, but again was unsuccessful.

Another try at securing a distinct Confederate coinage had failed in April, 1861. An order to make dies for a Confederate cent was placed with George H. Lovett of New York City. The cent designed by him depicted the head of Liberty on the obverse with the inscription CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA; the reverse contained the denomination within a wreath of corn and wheat and with a cotton bale at the base of the wreath. But Lovett, fearful that with the outbreak of warfare he might be arrested for aiding the enemy, did not deliver the dies or any of the samples he struck. Instead, he hid them in his cellar, where they remained until purchased by two Philadelphia dealers, Captain John W. Haseltine and J. C. Randall. They struck fifty-five of the cents in copper, twelve in silver, and seven in gold. All of these have become valuable collector's items. A note in the March, 1911 issue of The Numismatist announced that the original Lovett dies had been defaced and could not be used to strike additional pieces, although replicas of the cent have been struck.

There are many references to unofficial Confederate coinage. A

CSA Cent

Confederate half dime is described on page 93 of Volume XXI of the American Journal of Numismatics for 1886. Dated 1861, this silver coin belonged to Ed Frossard. It bears a Confederate flag flying, with the motto A UNITED SOUTH; the reverse portrays a cotton plant surrounded by fifteen stars. This brief description suggests that the coin or token had probably been issued by "some enthusiastic Southerner during the early days of the rebellion."

At least four other tokens were struck for circulation in the South. The first, of brass, is dated 1860 and pictures a palmetto tree on the obverse, with the legend NO SUBMISSION TO THE NORTH. The reverse pictures a tobacco plant, with the legend THE WEALTH OF THE SOUTH. The second token, copper, is dated 1861, and has a bale of cotton with a barrel at each side. The third is of brass and is not dated. A shield appears on its face, with the legend OUR RIGHTS, THE CONSTITUTION AND THE UNION. The fourth is described as a dime. Dated 1861, this silver token contains the profile of Jefferson Davis, and the legend reads C.S.A. FIRST PRESIDENT. All four of these tokens are obviously unofficial issues and may have been designed by the same Northern companies which struck the patriotic and tradesman tokens used for change in the Union.¹²

The only reference to counterfeit coins in the South is an intriguing mention of a quarter with the New Orleans mint mark, dated 1862. This coin is briefly discussed on page 14 of the July, 1882 issue of the American Journal of Numismatics. Since the New Orleans Mint was not operating in 1862, there was, of course, no authorized issue; in this sense, the quarter is not actually a counterfeit. Who made it, or why it was made will probably always remain a mystery.

The outbreak of the war put a halt to all attempts of securing a Confederate coinage. Memminger made no further effort to secure dies or designs for coins. In a letter to Elmore, he explained:

it is not probable that much coinage will be required, while it is certain that the Government will need the Bullion Fund for its necessities. Under all circumstances, you had better reduce immediately your expenditures in every practicable way, and dismiss workmen so as to leave the establishment merely property taken care of until Congress may pass upon such a plan as I may submit under the information to be derived from you.¹³

The Confederate Congress decided to close the mints as of June, 1861. Much of the machinery and supplies went to essential wartime factories. Failure to prepare Confederate coins for general circulation might very well have served Memminger as a warning of the monetary difficulties both he and the Confederacy were yet to face.

¹²The tokens are listed on page 56 of The Money and Stamp Manual, 1909, published by the Money and Stamp Brokerage Co., New York.

The A.N.A. and Its Presidents

Fifth President

By

JACK W. OGILVIE, LM93, HISTORIAN

The momentum generated by the Hooper administration carried beyond January 1, 1902 when one of the remaining old guard, Dr. B. P. Wright, No. 23, took office as fifth President of the Association. Dr. Heath brought it into the world in 1891, nursed it back from its ills in 1898 and exactly a decade later a second doctor took over the thriving infant. Let us look into the life of this physician whose prescriptions not only maintained but increased the growth and vigor of the organization.

Benjamin Wright was born September 20, 1857 in Hamlin, N. Y., and spent his early life on a farm. He desired an education higher than that obtainable in the country schools, so paved the way to enter Cornell University by attending normal school and taking extra instructions in Latin and Greek. But, by a strange twist of fate, he entered the Medical Department of the University of Michigan. There — you are way ahead — he met and became a lifelong friend of George F. Heath. There, also, he met a lovely lady student, Mary Catherine, whom he married in 1886, the year of her graduation and a year following his own, both with degrees of M.D. The two practiced medicine and surgery as a team for many years thereafter.

Dr. Wright presumably acquired his numismatic tendencies from Dr. Heath and was the sixty-fourth person to join the newly formed A.N.A. in February, 1892. He termed himself a general collector for to him anything stamped in metal was a numismatic item and worthy of being studied and preserved. He formed one of the largest collections of American store cards ever brought together before that time, cataloged them and ran the list serially in The Numismatist from 1898 to 1901. He made the first attempt to classify the Mark pennies of his Masonic order and the results were also published in the official organ. He wrote another series on "Unusual Numismatic Specimens" during his term as President. A substantial list of other articles also appeared under his name, written around the various phases of numismatics which happened to strike his fancy.

Our photo reveals that President Wright followed the style set forth by his predecessor, Hooper, and their U. S. Presidential counterparts, Grant, Hayes and Harrison by wearing a long beard. Dr. Wright, with a handle-bar mustache, leaned toward the western style worn by Buffalo Bill, while Hooper strung along with the Smith Brothers of cough drop fame. But, all kidding aside, in those days a beard represented dignity, importance and all that was superior in a man's world. At the present time, all of these ideals have been shattered — by the hirsute-faced beatniks!

Dr. Wright had not served in an official capacity until named President at the 1901 Buffalo, N. Y. convention. Several innovations were made at this first gathering since the 1895 meeting in Washington, D. C. All elected officers began their terms the following January 1st instead of immediately after their election. This entire group served three years or until December, 1904. The office of Second Vice President was created and it was felt that a Canadian should be honored, so Jeremiah Gibbs of Hamilton, Ont., was elected to the new post. A. R. Frey, later to succeed Wright, became First Vice President, Heath remained as Secretary and Dr. A. L. Fisher as Treasurer. The Board of Trustees was composed of P. O. Tremblay, M. Marcuson, W. O. Buckland and Virginia Eaton, four newcomers, while George Rice of the older group was the fifth member.

The success of most administrations is due, in a large part, to the effectiveness of its subordinate officers. This is the proper time to pay tribute to such stalwarts as John F. Jones, Hiram Deats, Charles Tatman, David Harlow, Charles Stutesman, Kelsey Hall, W. C. Stone, Lyman Low and J. A. Heckelman for their capable work and diligence before dropping from the official family by this time. Thus, Wright's administration brought to an end the era of the original organizers and was the beginning of another when new blood would take over.

During the next three years, the Doctor gave his successors a few records to shoot at. The total membership climbed from 348 to 643 and was sprinkled with the names of famous numismatists: John Ten Eyck and W. F. Dunham, both owned 1804 dollars; J. H. Clapp of the large cent trio of brothers and Dr. George P. French, another large cent specialist as well as a future officer; H. O. Mann and John Beck, both of whom amassed famous collections, Beck eventually owning that hoard of seven hundred F.E. cents; future Presidents, Dr. John M. Henderson and H. O. Granberg; probably the youngest person who ever entered the A.N.A., William R. Sherman of Newport, R. I. (born in 1893, was nine when he enrolled. Does anyone know what became of Bill?) Others were: Judge Byron Rooks of the Dred Scott case; writers, J. C. Trennamen and Francis Higgins; Wayte Raymond of Standard Catalogues; present day members, I. T. Mandel, a former New York dealer and Honorary Michael P. Carey, that genial gentleman who has been a continuous member for fifty-eight years; Howland Wood, known as the greatest authority on modern coinage who was also an official, writer and editor. Was anyone omitted? Oh, yes! That fellow who's initials are the most famous in American numismatics, Victor D. Brenner, designer of the Lincoln cent. Last but not least, dealers: Daniel Holmberg of Sweden; J. W. Scott, also of catalog fame; Burdette Johnson of St. Louis and perhaps the most publicized dealer in the world, the late B. Max Mehl of Texas. His first ad ran in the December, 1903, Numismatist and has appeared continuously every month since.

After Dr. Wright relinquished the presidency in 1904, he became Chairman of the Board of Trustees until 1907. This office took on more importance and became a recognized title from the last year of his tenure until 1937 when it was discontinued. Upon the death of his beloved friend, Dr. Heath, in 1908, his interest waned and failing eyesight forced him to give up active collecting a few years later. He died, after a lingering illness, on August 8, 1922 while residing in Schenectady, N. Y.

YOU CAN REJUVENATE DAMAGED NOTES

By

GLENN B. SMEDLEY

JUST as a worn coin cannot be restored to mint condition by cleaning and polishing, so is it impossible to make a crisp, uncirculated note out of one which has been creased and crumpled. But it is not difficult to improve the appearance of practically any such

Pencil marks and surface dirt on the margins and other unprinted parts of the note may yield to a soft eraser while the note is dry. In most cases, we do not make much effort to clean an entire note, for any such attempt will remove some ink and give a faded or piece of paper money, whether it be an old bank note or a government note of large or small size. Generally speaking, the worse the condition of a note the more improvement that can be made in its appearance.

“washed-out” appearance which may be less desirable than a generally soiled condition. But creases, crumpled corners and edges, and folded edges of torn parts can be straightened and the paper restored to its original flat condition.

If the note has pressure adhesive (Scotch) tape on it, this may be removed as outlined in an article on page 269 in the March, 1959, issue of The Numismatist. This is a tedious and time-consuming process which requires great care and patience, but the results usually justify the effort. If the note has been repaired with water solvent adhesive tape, it will be removed during the following process of flattening the paper.

First, wet the note thoroughly with clean, warm water, either by soaking it in a pan or dish or by sprinkling the water lightly on both sides. Let the surplus water drip off or blot lightly with paper towel or napkins. Folded over edges or tears within the note can be straightened out now by the use of a dull knife, using care not to cut or tear the folded parts no matter how small they may be.

If the note is badly soiled it may be rubbed lightly with a mild soap while thoroughly wet and spread out on a glass or other nonporous surface. However, if soap is used at all, care should be exercised not to overdo the cleaning and to rinse it quite well to remove all soap. We again caution against overcleaning.

After the cleaning and straightening have been completed, the surplus water should be removed by blotting lightly with absorbent paper, leaving the note damp and limp. Then lay it out carefully on a clean blotter somewhat larger than the note, being careful to avoid any folds and to match up the edges of any tears. Cover the note with another clean blotter and place the "sandwich" in a press or on a flat surface with books or other weights on top. It should be left to press and dry for a minimum of ten hours, although the drying time may be shortened by changing to dry blotters after an hour or so. Unless thoroughly dry, the note will tend to curl up when removed from the press. If you have inadvertently pressed a crease in the note or find that torn edges do not match up, the note may be dampened again and the drying process repeated. (Some may ask "Why not press and dry notes with a warm iron?" We believe that the method described above gives better results.)

For repairing tears and frayed edges, we use the recently developed "Scotch Brand 810 Magic Mending Tape" referred to in the article cited about removing tape. It is very different from the ordinary pressure adhesive tape (more expensive, too) and, according to the manufacturer's claim and our own experience, it is satisfactory for permanent mending of paper.

Little Do We Know Our Own Members

The majestic Sierra Nevada mountains that separate our bountiful Southern California from the arid desert are the playgrounds of our fishermen and recreation hunters. This is the home of our Golden Trout, also the origin of our main water supply. It is a beautiful and wondrous part of the country, truly a place to enjoy a week or two of solid pleasure, a hideaway second to none—but a hideaway that can be grim as well as beautiful.

For years the deer hunter and the trout fisherman would upon occasion encounter a lonely, determined man who was searching, searching, seemingly in vain. He combed the high mountains (and they are high—Mt. Whitney is part of this range) and the high valleys with their myriad of unnamed lakes. This man was so determined to find what he was seeking that he sold his home in Los Angeles and moved to Lone Pine, a small city near the mountains. When winter arrived, he could no longer travel in this wilderness. Snow was as deep as thirty feet and more. So he stored his energy for the spring when he could again enter upon his search. This search lasted for fifteen years. Every minute he could spend in this country, he was there.

After these years of searching, this fine man was struck down with a heart attack and was forced to give up the search. While visiting him one day, he said "I am certain that my search is about ended." How truly he spoke—he went to his reward shortly thereafter.

Now, let's turn back the clock to December 6, 1943. On this date Bob Hester was co-piloting a B-24 bomber which disappeared on a routine flight. Nothing more was heard from the plane or the men until last year, when forest rangers were exploring an unnamed district. They came upon pieces of a wrecked plane, partly on the rocks and mostly in the water of an unnamed lake. The search was over, for it was the plane that Clint Hester had searched for so long.

Now father and son sleep next to each other. He never complained—he just kept looking. He was Clint Hester, A.N.A. Life Member No. 206. —KARL M. BRAINARD

SURVEY OF MEDIEVAL IBERIAN COINAGES

By

J. F. LHOTKA, LM 334 AND P. K. ANDERSON, LM 210

A detailed discussion of medieval Iberian metrology is out of place in a paper such as this designed for the beginner since such information would mean very little to the average reader. However, some observations on the general metals used would probably be of value.

Basically, the early coins of both the Spanish and Portuguese nations followed the pattern established in France and other medieval nations with longer histories of established coinages. All the dineros of Castile and Leon, Navarre, Aragon, and Portugal were initially of silver and followed the general weight patterns of the era.

Unlike the French issues, the Iberian series rapidly deteriorated from good silver to billon, a mixture containing both silver and copper. Thus many of the early dineros and dinheiros contained more copper than silver and on occasion, appeared to be of copper alone.

The Portuguese dinheiro was issued in this form as early as the reign of Sancho I, the second king of Portugal, and many of his coins would pass as copper since the silver content is not apparent. The dinheiro continued as a base coin for the rest of its existence although occasionally one is encountered that appears to be made of silver.

This same debasement is true of many other coins in the Iberian series, such as the Castilian blanca which obtained its name because of the high silver content but rapidly degenerated into what appears to be a copper coin. Technically, however, these coins, although appearing to be struck in copper, are classed as billon. Some coins were struck in billon and retained sufficient silver so that they do appear to be made of precious metal, although obviously not pure. The earlier dineros of Spain fall into this class and many of the larger Portuguese denominations such as the barbuda and grave. The real, both in Spain and Portugal, retained a fairly high silver content throughout the medieval period and is almost always silver-appearing.

The croats and dineros of Barcelona also were struck in good metal during the years up to the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella. The various denominations struck by the Aragonese kings in the western Mediterranean area generally were struck in fairly good silver since they had to compete with coins of other nations and if debased would be passed over in favor of French and Italian coinages. Eventually many of these denominations were debased but this generally took place after the period covered in this paper. Until 1500, the tari and its fellows retained their stability.

The gold coinage follows the general pattern set by the other nations of western Europe. In most cases, the gold content was high and stable but occasionally coins stated to be of gold do have a fairly high silver content with consequent lightening of the characteristic yellow color of good gold. This, is however, the exception rather than the rule.

Copper coinage, that is, coin frankly struck and circulated as copper, began early in the Iberian nations. The ceitil of Portugal was instituted in the early Fifteenth Century as a copper coin and never pretended to be anything else, thus predating other acknowledged copper coinages in the Iberian area by almost a hundred years, although copper coins masquerading as "billon," but fooling no one, has been circulating for years.

From these remarks, it can be seen that one cannot always tell the denomination of a coin from its theoretical metallic content. Any coin listed in our paper as billon might well appear to be made of silver but it can equally appear to have been struck in copper. Coins listed as struck in silver, however, usually have good metallic content. This same is true of gold issues although at times silver was added and the gold coins were debased. The medieval Iberian series is an excellent place to study inflation and its effect on hard coinages since it is possible to follow the metallic content of any particular denomination and its diameter with ease over a period of hundreds of years.

VALUES

Most papers of this type published in this country tend to make almost a fetish out of listing "values" for the coins contained in the lists. This is probably quite correct in many cases, but the authors have felt that it is out of place in a work designed as a source of general information. Then, too, it is very difficult to make such estimations on a series that is not popular in the United States since such coins are rarely listed in U.S. auctions, the only place that honest evaluations can be obtained. After all, the value of any numismatic item, less what intrinsic value it might have, is based strictly on what another collector is willing to pay for that item. Dealer's lists do not necessarily reflect honest prices since they may be too high or too low. Values obtained from auctions held in Portugal or Spain are equally false since the purchasing power in these nations can not be directly compared with that of this country and its much larger population of collectors seeking particular numismatic specimens. However, based on the authors' experiences, several remarks can be made that might be of interest.

As a rule, the baser Iberian denominations struck by the commoner kings (that is, any king after about 1300 and who reigned about ten years or longer) can be purchased for about $2.00 in very good to fine condition. Since there are no proofs in the medieval series, this condition will usually suffice but the collector who demands choicer specimens can often obtain them at higher prices. Rare items, of course, sell high and may demand hundreds of dollars. Some medieval Iberian coins are rare as a series, such as those of Navarre or the minor feudal issues. These will cost a great deal if and when they appear on the market. Some earlier issues are not expensive. For example, coins of Sancho I are not too costly in the Portuguese series and dineros of Sancho I of Aragon are quite common. Although the larger coins are higher, often the obols are rarer and command higher prices. This is also true of the mealha, struck by Alfonso I of Portugal.

The Iberian gold issues are in a class by themselves and generally command high prices. This is not due to any real rarity in many cases but an unfortunate tendency of many U. S. dealers to assume that any gold coin is rare and to price it accordingly. Naturally gold will always be expensive but a false set of values has been assumed for most of the medieval gold in the United States making these coins too expensive for the average collector. These items, however, occasionally appear at reasonable prices on the foreign market and may be purchased at such times.

The following prices, taken from a dealer's list of 1959, will help in making a representative evaluation of the medieval Iberian series:

SPAIN

- Ferdinand II of Leon. Dinero (Heiss iii, 5) $6.00 (VF and very rare)
- Alfonso VIII of Castile. Dinero (Heiss iv, 6) $3.25 (VF)

- Sancho IV of Castile. Dinero (Heiss v, 4) $3.00 (VF)
- Ferdinand IV of Castile. Dinero (Heiss vi, 2) $1.50 (VF)
- Alfonso XI of Castile. Cornado (Heiss vi) $2.00 (VF, various mints)

 Sancho I of Majorca. Dobler (Heiss ciii, 3) $2.75 (VF and rare)

James III of Majorca. Dobler (Heiss ciii, 2) $2.00 (VF)
 Alfonso V of Aragon for Majorca. Double Real (Heiss cvi, 2) $3.25 (VF and rare)

PORTUGAL

Denis. Dinheiro $2.75 (VF and rare)
 Ferdinand. Barbuda (TA-11) $8.00 (VF and rare)
 John I. Real of Evora (TA-7) $3.25 (VF and rare)
 Alfonso V. Half Real of Lisbon $1.00 (VF)
 John II. Vinten of Lisbon $1.75

These prices are all for coins in very fine condition and naturally would be less in poorer condition when compared to these examples. No extreme rarities have been listed, except perhaps the dinero of Ferdinand II of Leon, but a dinero of Urraca would cost at least $40.00. Coins of Alfonso VI of Castile usually run around $7 and up depending on condition and a dinheiro of Alfonso I of Portugal would cost at least $75.00 in any kind of condition.

DAHLONEGA GOLD RUSH OF 1961

A memorable experience for visitors registered at the A.N.A. annual convention August 16-19 in Atlanta, Ga., will be a guided tour to the gold fields of Dahlonega, seventy-two miles north of Atlanta on U. S. Highway 19 and Georgia Routes 52 and 60.

Carolinas southwestward toward Alabama.

If tall and rangy Benjamin Parks could stroll through the winter-frozen fields of Lumpkin County and kick up a chunk of gold – and he did, 'way back in 1828 – we can, too!

Pack up your blue jeans, shorts or slacks – and don't forget your camera and the children. Come on, y'all! We're heading for Dahlonega and the gold boom of 1961!

Named from the Cherokee Indian term "ta lo ne ga" (place of yellow metal), Dahlonega is not a ghost town, but a thriving mountain city amid spectacular Blue Ridge Mountain scenery, a favorite spot for trout fishing and deer hunting. It is located in the richest section of the gold-bearing ore belt from the

That's how it started. Parks was hunting deer, but he hadn't sighted one all day. Tired and cold, he tripped over a stone. He picked it up and in disgust threw it hard against another rock. It shattered – and there lay a glitter of gold.

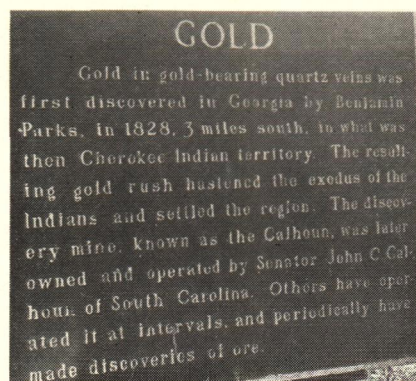

Thus began America's first gold rush over one hundred thirty-three years ago, which led to the establishment of a U. S. branch mint at Dahlonega in 1837. A total of $6,115,596 in gold coins was turned out from 1838 to 1861. It is said that gold mines in the area yielded from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000 in the ten-year period before 1839.

Later mining yielded some $25,000,000 in gold, and the last recent operation of importance followed the Dugas Strike of 1938 at the Calhoun mine when a small section of ore assaying $60,000 per ton was uncovered. Visitors can still see the original John C. Calhoun mine once owned and operated by the famous South Carolina senator; several Yahoola Creek mines; the Findley, Crown Mountain, Barlow, Battle Branch, Ralston Branch and others; the site of the 1900 operation, "Old Consolidated," where millions were invested and thousands taken out.

On display at nearby North Georgia College, a coeducational four-year college of the state university system, is a fine collection of Dahlonega gold coins, one of a very few sets known. A few blocks from the city public square is the rustic Pioneer Gold Museum, developed by Dahlonega hosteler Bill Fry and now operated by the Dahlonega-Lumpkin County Chamber of Commerce. The century-old, barnlike building was a gold miner's machine shop and has been converted into a museum.

Here, where "color" may still be washed in every panful of earth, are mementoes of the days of primitive gold mining — original weights

Besides an old water-wheel replica, you will see the only gold-ore crushing stamp mill in operation east of the Mississippi, the portable mortar and pestle used by gold seekers; and conversion of gold dust into the "gold button" by means of the retort will be explained by museum guides Roy Phillipson and Carl Weaver.

But you'll not spend all your time sightseeing. You'll also pan* for gold. We don't really expect to strike it rich – but maybe? Panning for gold is still profitable at the Gold Museum or in the mountain streams and century old mining gulches – and you can keep all the gold you find!

Convention visitors may wish to extend their stay beyond convention dates (August 16-19) and return to Dahlonega for more gold-panning. "Thar's gold in them thar hills!"

Exhibits

The rules for exhibits at the 1961 convention, according to Exhibits Chairman Philip S. Reed, are similar to those in effect at prior conventions. The point system of judging will be continued, with displays falling in these classifications:

- (1) United States Coins
- (2) Coins prior to 1500 A.D.
- (3) Foreign Coins after 1500 A.D.

*Panning is a process of testing earth, sand, small gravel for gold content, not a method of obtaining gold on a large scale. Here's how to pan for gold:

- (1) Fill the pan three-fourths full of panning dirt; place under water in trough or stream.
- (2) Stir dirt, suspend mud, let gravel settle, pour out mud. Repeat until gravel is free of mud.
- (3) Dip up water, shake pan three or four times back and forth.
- (4) Shake pan, tilt as pan is shaken, let ore slide to edge of pan, pushing off gravel with thumb. Repeat until gravel is removed and only black sand is left.
- (5) Add about a teacup of water to black sand, shake, tilt pan raking off black sand until black sand is reduced to a half teaspoonful.
- (6) Add about one-fourth cup of water, let black sand swirl along bottom of pan; any "color" of gold found will be seen at the end of the sand trail.

- (4) United States Paper Money
- (5) Foreign Paper Money
- (6) Confederate and Southern States Paper Money
- (7) Medals, Medallion Art, Orders and Decorations
- (8) Miscellaneous, Specialized and Other Exhibits Not Covered by Classes 1 to 7 inclusive

Good documentation of exhibits is desirable but should be brief, though complete enough to be understandable to the viewer. Strive for good arrangement, neatness and eye appeal, as well as originality. Further details and entry blanks may be obtained from the Exhibits Chairman at P. O. Box 234, Atlanta 1, Ga.

SOME HISTORIC COINAGE

Privately issued gold pieces were struck in Georgia and North Carolina, and also in the West after the discovery of gold in California and Colorado. The first privately issued gold pieces which readily went into circulation as coins were struck by Templeton Reid, an assayer, who in 1830 established himself near the gold mines in Lumpkin County, Ga., and converted the gold from the mines into coin form. The example of Mr. Reid was soon followed by a Mr. Bechtler, at Rutherfordton, N. C.

There can hardly have been any reason of necessity for either of these enterprises, since neither community was beyond the reach of assay offices where gold could have been disposed of. But in the case of the far West, the Government connived at the irregularity, regarding it as necessary under the circumstances. In fact, the Government opened negotiations with the firm of Moffatt and Company with a view of having that company coin gold for the Treasury of the United States, but the decision to establish a mint at San Francisco rendered such an arrangement unnecessary.—T. L. Comparette, Catalogue of Coins, Tokens, Medals in the U. S. Mint, 1912

Can You Identify This Medal?

If you can offer any information on this medal, please advise Gary C. Krug of the Orders and Medals Society of America whose address is 502 N. Waiola Ave., La Grange Park, Ill. Although the piece bears Tiffany markings, that firm has no record of it.

The new type standard silver dollar issued in 1921, designed by Anthony de Francisci, could be considered a commemorative coin. This coin bears on the obverse the head of Liberty to the left with a tiara of light rays, and on the reverse an eagle to right standing on a mountain crag, facing a rising sun, with olive branch in talons. Known as the Peace dollar, it commemorates the peace treaty ratifications in November, 1921, incident to the ending of World War I.

Notes & Queries

FUN in 1962

H. A. Brand advises that the 1962 FUN (Florida United Numismatists) convention will be held in Orlando, Fla., January 11-14. Space will be available for only eighty bourse tables because of smaller hotel accommodations than at Miami. G. L. Radford, 6109 Matchett Rd., Orlando, is President.

Upside Down Coins

Dear Sir:

As all true coin collectors know, the 1960 small and large date cents cost the fraternity far more than we can correct in the next five years. Now if someone comes up with an upside down date of 1961, can't you just imagine how much more ground we will lose to the boys who high pressure the smallest change in dies of the U. S. coinage?

Boston Society Member Killed When Skaters' Plane Crashed

A new member of the Boston Numismatic Society was one of the young American skaters who lost their lives in the recent crash of the Belgian airliner. Gregory Kelley, a figure skater of championship caliber at sixteen, and his sister Nathalie, were aboard the ill-fated plane. We extend deep sympathy to their parents.

Makes Improved Altered Date 1914-D

A Kenosha, Wis., resident is reported by the Kenosha Evening News to be turning out excellent alterations of the 1914-D cent. In addition to the erasure of the cross bar on the first four to make the second one in the date, this craftsman removes the VDB from the truncation of Lincoln's bust, thus eliminating a tell tale mark that the coin is not a genuine 1914-D. (Thanks to N. Emory Mischler and the Kenosha Coin Club for the information.)

Detroit's Money Museum Is a Year Old

The Money Museum of National Bank of Detroit, which was opened to the public a year ago, expects early in May to greet its fifty-thousandth visitor. The Museum's twelve thousand specimens are the collection of Nate S. Shapero, Detroit numismatist. They relate the story of the ages as seen through coins and primitive media of exchange, and have become a mecca for student and other tour groups as well as for the casual visitor.

The Museum also appeals to many of the foreign groups who visit Detroit. The unique method of displaying the collection has attracted international interest through eight articles which have appeared in numismatic journals published in other lands.

Last September the Museum placed on display a most unusual eight hundred and seventy-pound monetary unit, the largest piece of Yap stone money to have left that remote Pacific Island. Other new exhibits depict the disastrous results of uncontrolled inflation in the German Weimar Republic following the end of World War I, and coins and currency relating to the American Civil War.

Publicizing the significant contribution of numismatics to various fields of knowledge, the Museum Director, Rear Admiral O. H. Dodson, USN (Ret.), has appeared before many audiences throughout the nation. In January, the Museum staff was augmented with the appointment of Charles R. Hoskins as Assistant Director.

Special new displays, of interest to all age groups, are already under study for exhibit during the summer of 1962 when the first joint convention of the American and Canadian Numismatic Associations meets in Detroit.

National Bank of Detroit was selected by the Executive Board to act as trust agent for the building fund. This bank, with sixty-seven offices and assets of two billion dollars, is the thirteenth largest in the nation.

It is hoped that the fund will reflect a steady growth through contributions by A.N.A. members, and that detailed building plans may be developed and a suitable location selected soon.

Breen Will Edit New Periodical

The recently formed Metropolitan Coin Company has announced that Walter Breen will edit its projected bimonthly magazine for advanced collectors, The Metropolitan Numismatic Journal. The publication will encompass early United States, colonial, and state coins giving pertinent and up to date information on new varieties, rarities, and the like. Articles by top flight numismatists are slated to appear.

The publishers explain that the Journal is not a house organ, but a magazine devoted to increasing interest in the early American field and serving collectors in this area of numismatics. It will contain no advertising.

Walter Breen is well known for his many numismatic writings and is regarded as an expert in American numismatics. He has written numerous books and monographs including The U. S. Minor Coinages 1793-1916, The United States Patterns of 1792, The Secret History of the Gobrecht Coinages, Proof Coins Struck by the U. S. Mint 1817-1921, Silver Coinages of the Philadelphia Mint 1794-1916 and U. S. Half Dimes: A Supplement. He also collaborated on Penny Whimsy, the standard reference work on early large cents. His half cent book, scheduled for publication in the near future will cover half cents in the same style as Penny Whimsy covers early large cents. It is expected that the half cent series will increase in popularity as a result of the book's appearance.

Metropolitan Coin Company was formed several months ago by Lynn Glaser and Paul Weinstein and has devoted all its attention to advanced series. They report a very large demand for top quality early United States and colonial coins. Metropolitan also reports a heavy response from specialists in these series for rare die varieties. For this reason they feel a need for a new publication in this field.

Kreisberg-Schulman Sale Brings Out the Bidders

More than two hundred fifty bidders crowded the Park Avenue Suite of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City for the February 16-18 Kreisberg-Schulman auction. Donald D'Amato and Gregory Mozian cried the sale. Counting mail bids from far away places in Europe, Africa, Australia and South America, nearly a thousand bidders fought for the coins.

A set of stellas sold for $39,500 and the high relief 1907 $20 gold piece brought $18,250. A Panama-Pacific set in copper frame realized $6,700; a Templeton Reid quarter eagle, $2,250; 1851 br. pf. $50, $5,300; 1852 gem unc., $5,350; 1855 Wess Molitor $50, $3,950; 1849 Oregon $5, $2,100; 1808 $2.50, $2,600; 1876 $3 br. pf., $3,200. Hectic bidding pushed platinum prices up very high, several of the rarities bringing more than $800 each.

An 1876 set of Greece brought $850; Greece 40 drachmae 1852, $1,500; Syracuse 100 Litrae Euainetos, $650; Brazil 4,000 reis 1827 Rio, $275; Colombia 8 esc. 1754 Santa Fe da Bogata, $575; England Una and the Lion 1839 five pd. $600; England jubilee set 1887, $260; Portugal 5 esc. 1920, $950; Russia, 37½ rubles, 1902, $1,500.

It's Been Tried Before

Dear Editor:

For Mr. Stevenson's benefit (April, 1961, Numismatist, p. 474), "branding" coins has been tried before. A Los Angeles insurance man was accumulating a beautiful collection of U. S. half dollars and had secretly marked them in the reeded edges. All were stolen, about $15,000 valuation.

A few weeks later three of the coins were identified in San Francisco, but to my knowledge no more were recovered. That was over twelve years ago. The hidden "brand," in this case, did very little toward recovery of the collection. Oh, yes. The coins were insured.

1881-1961 or 1881-1961

The Excelsior Springs Coin Club, cooperating with the local Chamber of Commerce, is striking a medal to commemorate the eightieth anniversary of the city's founding. The issue is limited to ten thousand in bronze, of which only three thousand "gems" will be heat-sealed by the manufacturer in "poly" bags.

The obverse design by David Pence symbolizes the city nestled in a valley overflowing with health and vitality. On each side of the Hall of Waters is a fountain representing the four kinds of free-flowing waters found in no other place in the world. The eight rings around the two fountains represent eight decades of growth of the city, while the waves below show that it was founded and grew because of the health-giving waters.

The arrangement of the dates 1881-1961 shows a rare combination which reads the same whether right side up, up side down, in shadows or viewed in a mirror.

The "gem" medals are available at $1.50 each, two for $2.50 or five for $6.00, postpaid. Orders for not more than five, with remittance in money order or certified check form, may be sent to Excelsior Springs Coin Club, P. O. Box 123, Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Women Promised Good Time At Indiana Convention, Too

Dealers, exhibitors and visitors to the third annual Indiana State Numismatic Association convention in Evansville May 19-21 will have no cause to sing about "the girl I left behind me." When she hears of the program arranged especially for her, she'll be present, too.

Convention planners, aware that sometimes the wives of attending coin collectors find little entertainment in the auctions, coin discussions and exhibits, have gone all out for the dis-taff side of the family. Special events, such as a get-together Friday evening, sightseeing or shopping Saturday morning, buffet luncheon Saturday noon followed by a card party and style show, are among those scheduled. Meanwhile, the family's numis-matist will be having the time of his life buying, selling, swapping or relating tall tales of his prowess in the coin collecting field.

Closing the convention will be the banquet, at which the featured speaker is Grover Criswell. Naturally, his subject will be "Confederate Currency," a type set of which he will exhibit and later turn over to the Evansville Museum of Arts and Science for permanent display. Besides the fame that comes with the co-authorship (with his brother Clarence) of a standard work on Confederate and southern state currency, Criswell is Mayor of St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., and a frequent guest on nationally televised shows.

Kudos to Freeman

Dear Mr. Freeman:

Congratulations on your really elegant tall tale in The Numismatist ("There's One in Every Precinct," pp. 32-33, January, 1961 issue). Too many of us take ourselves too seriously and this one of yours is just what the doctor ordered.

Dear Mr. Freeman:

I truly got a kick out of your masterpiece, "There's One in Every Pre-

Satirists Can't Fool Mathematicians

Dear Sir:

Michael Dolnick, in his article in the January, 1961, Numismatist, has exaggerated the magnitude of the task involved in accumulating a set of column varieties of the 1960 Lincoln cent when he states that 1,594,323 coins are needed to complete such a set. The solution to this problem is based on a mathematical law to the effect that the number of combinations possible when each of M objects exists in N conditions is equal to N^M raised to the Mth power.

Thus it is easily seen that the number of cents needed for a complete column-varieties set is only three raised to the 12th power, or 580,644.

Publishes Special Civil War Number

Tribute was paid to the opening of the four-year Civil War centennial by the weekly newspaper Coin World in its March 23, 1961 issue. More than a score of illustrated articles were written by contributors, many of whom are well known in numismatic circles. This combined with regular features, current news, organization reports and advertisements brought about a ninety-six page paper.

Numismatic Vignettes

■ We don't get around very much so must take the word of others who do. Following the opening of the new Hall of Monetary History and Medallion Art in the old Smithsonian Institution on March 18, we rode to the airport with a well-informed man of the numismatic world. He summed up the generally expressed impression of those who attended the event: "You can't see a better numismatic exhibit anywhere in the world." Our sincere compliments to Dr. and Mrs. V. Clain-Stefanelli of the Division of Numismatics, and Secretary Carmichael of the Smithsonian Institution.

■ Where can you go into a coin shop and find a United States coin about which the dealer doesn't know as much as you do? We like bank notes for many reasons, but one was stressed in the shop of a well-known dealer when we found two nicely altered notes, of which he was not aware. If you want to make "finds," explore the little-known, and acquire rarities at modest cost, devote some of your numismatic time to state bank notes.

■ Nearly nine hundred years ago, when the silver pennies of the Norman kings were currency in England and the Magna Charta was still a century away, there lived a great Persian mathematician and astronomer. Few remember his scientific works today, but the rubais which he wrote were arranged and translated and are well known as The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. We have quoted him before and do so again:

"I often wonder what the vintner buys

One half so precious as the stuff he sells."

A provocative thought, indeed, but at least it was no problem for the vintner to replenish his stock and continue to sell the "precious stuff." Consider now the plight of a modern merchant, commonly called a coin dealer. Like the wine presses, coining presses continue to turn out good merchandise but the desired vintage cannot be reproduced. Coin dealers aren't kidding when they say "We are more interested in buying than selling." The demand increases daily for most numismatic items, but the supply remains constant. Little wonder that prices continue to rise and that collectors are being forced into side lines and new fields.

We still feel that the craze for finding minor die varieties and misstrikes (and misprints) is not properly termed numismatics, but it is an outlet for the collectors' desire to obtain something unusual. And the dealer? Since he cannot supply the demand for legitimate numisma, he must cater to customers who want about anything he can supply — "small date" cents, "bugs bunny" halves, broken and missing letter coins, micro-mint marks, double die cents, etc. Whatever you collect or sell, may you find pleasure, pride, prestige, perfection and prosperity in it. But if you possess pre-World War II numismatic items in the better conditions, guard them well and treat them with the respect due "precious stuff."

■ The dollar sign and its origin have been the subject of considerable discussion in which several plausible theories have been expounded. The best documented article that we've seen says that the sign evolved from the abbreviation for "pesos," being the letters "ps" in monogram. But the British are more sure of the origin of their coin abbreviations: £ is from the coin libra, s. from the coin solidus, and d. from denarius. Odd, however, is the fact that the modern £ is gold whereas the libra was bronze, s. denotes the silver shilling whereas the solidus was gold, and d. is the bronze penny whereas the denarius was of silver. Thereby hangs a tale, told by J. Hunt Deacon, F.R.N.S., in an early issue of Australian Numismatic Journal. — GLENN S.

Guest Editorial

"In God We Trust"

In a recent column about coin collector Carl Johnston, I mentioned that Matthew Rothert of Camden was responsible for the motto "In God We Trust" being inscribed on paper money starting this year.

I met and talked with Mr. Rothert Sunday, and learned where and when he got the idea.

It seems he was attending church in Chicago one Sunday in 1953. As the collection plate was being passed, it occurred to him that only the coins in the plate had this motto.

"I thought that since our paper money has a much wider circulation abroad than our coins, a message about this country's faith in God could be easily carried throughout the world if it were on United States currency," he recalled.

Late in 1953, Mr. Rothert presented a suggestion to include "In God We Trust" on U. S. currency to Secretary of the Treasury George W. Humphrey.

Although Mr. Humphrey favored the idea, he felt that Congressional sanction was desirable. In March of 1955, through Mr. Rothert's efforts, bills to this effect were introduced into the Senate by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas and into the House of Representatives by Congressmen Harris of Arkansas and Bennett of Florida. The bills were approved.

While the one dollar certificates are the first notes to officially bear this inscription, it will appear eventually on all our currency.

The ballroom of the Fort Steuben Hotel in Steubenville will be the locale of the annual spring convention of Ohio Valley Coin Association on May 28. Ray E. Campbell is General Chairman for the show and J. Elmer Flowers of Weirton, West Va., is Co-Chairman. Committee heads that have been appointed are: Bourse, Edmund F. Szyplulski; registration, John Halischak; guards, Donald Finnegan; door prizes, Lou Clemens. All bourse space has been sold to sixteen dealers from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. In the Colonial room, which will house the displays, the walls are appropriately decorated with murals depicting early American life. Displays will be judged according to a point system recently adopted by the Club. Two lucky people will take home the special prizes of an uncirculated 1909-S VDB cent, and a complete set of uncirculated Roosevelt dimes. Schedule: 10 a.m., opening of the bourse and display rooms; 12 noon, judging the displays; 5 p.m., drawing for prizes and closing of the bourse. All collectors and interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

At a regular meeting of the Association in the YMCA auditorium, a contest was held to select a motto for the organization. Eleven collectors met on January 15 in Springfield, Ill., and organized the Lincoln Land Coin Club. Eight were named to a Board of Governors. The first regular meeting was held on March 4 at the V. F. W. Hall, where subsequent meetings will be held the first Saturday evening monthly. The sixty-eight members and guests present heard Secret Service representative Fred Backstrom give a talk on counterfeit money and his agency's function. He also presented a Secret Service film. A nominating committee will present candidates to be voted on at the May 6 meeting. Walter McMann reported on the coin show to be held June 17 and 18 at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel. Those interested in joining are invited to attend future meetings.

Bruce Brace highlighted the February meeting of Hamilton (Canada) Coin Club with an illustrated talk on coins of the Roman Republic and Empire. We were pleased to welcome seventeen members from the newly formed Brantford Coin Club to this meeting.

Vice president Rudy Sauro presided at the March 12 meeting, due to the illness of Sam Baggs. Y., give a talk on numismatics in general. We had several displays of the junior and senior members from the Waterloo Coin Club's annual banquet, which was a great success. — ETHEL SENTES, Sec.

The Toronto Coin Club welcomed seventy-seven members and guests to its February 25 meeting. Guest speaker Jerome F. Forman outlined the sequence of events that led the Bank of Nova Scotia in Toronto to enter the field of trading in gold. This service, beginning with gold bullion, led to trading in such gold coins as command an active market; for example, United States eagles and double eagles, British half sovereigns and sovereigns, Swiss vreneli (10 and 20 francs), French napoleons (50 and 100 francs), as well as Dominican coins of 30 pesos. In tendering our gratitude, Dr. Wilkinson testified to the intense interest with which the address had been followed. Keen interest has been expressed locally in the Club's twenty-fifth anniversary medal, which will be available at the annual banquet in the Royal York Hotel on April 22. The obverse will exhibit the design proposed for Toronto's new City Hall. It is being struck in silver at $10, in bronze at $3, and in aluminum at $1.25. Orders, accompanied by remittance, will be accepted by the Club's treasurer, F. C. Jewett, 89 Thursfield Crescent, Toronto 17, Canada. — H. A. CRAIG, Editor

The February meeting of Bay Cities Coin Club will be remembered as one of the most popular to date. We feel fortunate in obtaining Detective Rydgren of the Santa Monica Burglary Squad to speak on safeguarding coins. He discussed various types of burglars from the casual to the professional coin thieves, and the different kinds of safes and locks and their effectiveness. Everyone in attendance agreed they had received considerable help in solving the collectors' big problem of protecting their coins. Among the interesting displays were crowns of the world by Jimmie Betton, Swedish plate money by Karl Brainard, coins of Africa by Carolyn Nestrick, gold coins by Lawrence Morton, and Barbadoes coins by Max Wedertz. — E. CAROLYN NESTRICK, Sec.

The winter meeting of Arkansas Numismatic Society, Camden Coin Club as host, was one big success. The lovely ladies of Camden are given credit for the many little added niceties. Upon arrival, guests were greeted by Mrs. Matt Rothert and presented a pretty piece of pottery from the famous Camark Company. Then into the bourse, where rows of tables offered thousands of choice items to the buyers and lookers. At 4:30 p.m. visitors were treated to a delightful hospitality hour. At 6 p.m. everyone went to the dining room for supper and a local auction. When the secretary went to the bourse room later to retrieve the minutes book, she found the room closed and three armed guards with orders that absolutely no one was to enter until the following morning. Good security precautions. On Sunday, with the arrival of scores of other collectors, room became a problem but everyone was happy. All this brings the thought of plans for the annual convention in Little Rock. At last year's meeting of the Board it was voted to present three awards for exhibits, so bring yours for the chance to show off your coins and talents and add to the convention. Remember the dates — May 6 and 7.

This Club meets the first Wednesday monthly, and its officers are: president, Joel Rettew; vice president, Kenneth Knauss; treasurer, Russell Kunkle; secretary, Paul Reitmeir. Club communications should be sent to the secretary at 916 Crawford St., Bethlehem, Pa. — PAUL REITMEIR, Sec.

Members of Santa Barbara Coin Club heard a short summary from Don Jurgensen of his recent trip to Mexico, illustrated with color slides, at the March 20 meeting. He gave a very good description of the famous Aztec calendar stone found on many Mexican coins. Applications accepted from new members bring the active membership of the Club to one hundred seventeen. New officers were elected as follows: president, Ray Bower; first vice president, Harry Kaplan; second vice president, Don Jurgensen; treasurer, Al Edson; secretary, Gwen Sentis. Directors are Mike Ryan, Joel Honey, Mrs. Edith Davis and Vic Rose. — GWEN SENTIS, Sec.

In September, 1959, several members of the Washington Numismatic Society called a meeting to form a new club. Some sixty responded and, with the writer serving as president pro tem, elected officers, adopted a constitution and bylaws and named the new organization the Montgomery County Coin Club. Over a year later, we now have one hundred twenty-five paidup members, hold meetings the third Wednesday monthly at the Perpetual Building and Loan Association in Silver Springs, and have an average attendance of close to a hundred. We have had fine programs by outstanding numismatists, including Acting Director of the Mint Leland Howard, Dr. V. Clair-Stefanelli, Brent Hughes, Mendel Peterson, Ben Douglas and others. Present officers are: president, R. C. Soznan; vice president, Theodore Munter; secretary-treasurer, Wally Wilson; sergeant-at-arms, Paul Burdett. — F. C. SCHNEIDER, Publ. Rel. Chm.

Seven new members were welcomed at the one hundred twenty-first meeting of Oak Park Coin Club on March 10. Glenn Smedley, who helps compile changes in the Whitman coin books, led a discussion of how changes are arrived at for new editions of the "Red Book." With questions and comments from the members, this proved to be interesting and informative. We had seven displays and most of the exhibitors spoke briefly on their own. With attendance of a hundred or more, our present quarters are crowded to the extent that we are searching the area for a new meeting place. It is expected that a decision will be made at the next meeting. — S. A. VAN PETTEN, Sec.

The thirty-seventh meeting of Glen-dale (Cal.) Coin Club celebrated its third anniversary on March 20, with attendance of ninety-one. Karl Brainard showed slides and spoke on the grading of coins. A very fine and extensive display of Confederate currency was shown by Mrs. Russell Snyder, while iron crosses and orders of the house of Hohenzollern in Germany were displayed by Bill Koonce. Visitors are welcome at all meetings of the Club in the Tuesday Afternoon Club the third Monday evening monthly. — ESTELLE K. POWERS, Rec. Sec.

Representing Hartford, Tolland and Windham Counties, the Central Connecticut Coin Club was formed last October 5 at a meeting in Whiton Memorial Library in Manchester. Meeting dates have been advanced from the first Wednesday to the first Tuesday monthly. The Club has a membership of eighty and holds

A.N.A. membership No. 41012. Officers elected in February are: president, Victor E. Siedel; vice president, Albert Donn; secretary, Herman Krajewski; treasurer, Richard Karpinski. — JOHN WINTHROP PORTER, Publ. Chm.

The Wichita Coin Club held its March meeting in the new Court House, with ninety-eight in attendance. A talk and discussion on counterfeit money proved most interesting. Plans were reviewed for our May 13-14 coin show, which we hope to make the largest and best ever put on in the Middle West. There will be plenty of bourse tables by dealers from several states and door prizes galore. — LLOYD F. PHILLIPS, 2nd V. P.

Whitman Coin Reference Series

The Widow's Mite

Moneys of the Bible

A chronological story of the coins mentioned in the Old and New Testament Books of the Bible and up to and including the Second Revolt in the years 132 to 135 A.D. This book will help the Bible student to understand the media of exchange used in Biblical times and will tell the collector where his coins are mentioned in the Bible. Included are many Biblical quotations that refer to coins, such as the widow's mite; the 30 pieces of silver; the penny in the fish's mouth; the money-changers in the temple; etc. Easy to understand, this new Whitman reference book will be interesting for beginners as well as advanced collectors.

Hotel Biltmore

Atlanta, Georgia

For the fourth time since 1950, we have been awarded the official auction sale to be conducted during the National A.N.A. Convention. Our first was in 1950 at Milwaukee and the following year at Phoenix. The Chi-ANA Sale in Chicago which we conducted in 1956 is still well remembered as it set a number of records, many of which have not been surpassed even today. A catalogue and sale of similar quality is being planned for the Atlanta Convention. This numismatic event will be even more interesting due to it being held during the Centennial Celebration of the Civil War.

TOP PRICES PAID FOR

COINS AND COLLECTIONS

We will pay top prices for individual rare coins and entire collections. Our reputation for paying high prices is well known. In recent months we have handled or presently have in stock: 1793, 96, 02, 40-49, 1811 restrike half cents; 1793, 1799, 1804, 1868 large cents; all small cents; all 2¢, 3¢, 5¢; 1894-S 10¢ (we paid $13,000 in public competition at auction — three times the previous auction sale record); 1876-CC twenty-cents; 1827 quarter; 1884 trade dollar, etc.

We need the following items at this time:

- Colonial coins — Specialized collections by Maris, Miller, Ryder, Newman, etc. numbers; Washington pieces; Mass. silver, individual scarce items.
- U. S. Copper Coins — All dates of half cents and large cents wanted, particularly in choice condition. Small cents in choice condition only.
- U. S. Silver Coins — Close to Guidebook prices to well over Guidebook prices paid for pre-1807 coins. Choice and Scarce Bust type, Liberty seated and Barber coins wanted. If you want a record price try selling us: 1802 half dime; transitional 5¢ and 10¢; 1894-S 10¢; 1827 original 25¢, 1823 25¢; 1796-7 50¢, 1838-O 50¢; 1804, 1836-8-9, 70-S dollars; 1884 and 1885 trade dollars.
- U. S. Gold Coins — All rare gold wanted — particularly 1795 to 1839. Top prices paid for Proof gold of all denominations.
- U. S. Pattern Coins — These are one of our specialties. As one of the nation's foremost pattern buyers we will offer top prices for rare items and collections. Well over Judd valuations paid for almost anything rare (we have paid over 15 times Judd valuation, on occasion). Transitionals particularly wanted.
- Miscellaneous — All territorial gold issues wanted, without exception. Over Guidebook paid for scarcer issues. Confederate restrike cents wanted, will pay: Copper $1000 (four times Guidebook price); Silver $1200; Gold $2000.00; C-N original $1680 (4 times Guidebook). Also 50¢ restrikes. Top prices for Hawaiian material.

When you consider selling, contact Bowers Coin Company. You will be assured of a fair price and a pleasant transaction with immediate payment. We believe that you, like so many other collectors, will like the way we do business. May we look forward to the pleasure of hearing from you?

We Present
THE OFFICIAL MEDAL
OF THE
CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL—1861-1961

The Coin and Currency Institute, Inc., of New York and California has been appointed sole national distributor of this medal, which commemorates officially the centennial of the Civil War.

It will be available in both bronze and silver about May 31, 1961.

The medal, which is 2½" in size, is being issued under authority of the Civil War Centennial Commission, which was created by Act of Congress. The medal will be struck by the Medallion Art Company from designs and sculptor's models that have been approved by the U. S. Government Fine Arts Commission in Washington, D. C.

As can be seen from the above illustration, the obverse bears the portraits of General Ulysses S. Grant and General Robert E. Lee. The reverse shows the seal of the Civil War Centennial Commission, having as its main theme, a Union and Confederate soldier. The medal will be sold in its own specially made container and will come with a printed, informative leaflet.

In addition to the bronze medal, there will be an issue of pure silver medals, which will be limited to 25,000 serially numbered pieces. The purity of the silver will be greater than .999.

The official prices of the Civil War Centennial Medal are as follows:

The Bronze Medal$ 4.00

The Pure Silver Medal..... 30.00

(Please note: Because of the limited issue, the silver medals are offered subject to being sold out. Those wishing a silver medal should place their order now. Earlier this year many thousands were disappointed when their orders for silver Inaugural medals were placed too late. Because of the overwhelming national interest in the Civil War, it is expected that the silver medals will be quickly sold out.)

The bronze and silver medals will be available about May 31, 1961, at your local coin and stamp dealer, department store coin counters, hobby shops, etc., or you may write to either our New York or California office.

Established dealers wishing to carry this medal for resale should write to us at once for our terms.

This symbol is the "hallmark" of excellence in the numismatic field. When you see the Whitman eagle you can be assured of enduring quality. The newest Whitman creation, the Bookshelf Coin Albums, proudly display this symbol of prestige and excellence.

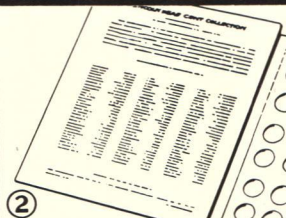

Whitman Bookshelf Coin Albums will cover all U. S. coins plus a series for Canadian coins. Albums for the most popular ones are now available at your hobby dealer.

FEATURES LIKE THESE ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR WHITMAN'S ENVIABLE REPUTATION FOR QUALITY:

EXCLUSIVE STUB-HINGE CONSTRUCTION

Rugged and yet flexible, stub-hinge construction prevents stress and strain. Pages are securely hinged, open wide and lie flat.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION AND MINT RECORDS

The inside front cover of each volume gives interesting detailed information about the coins it houses. There is also a complete mint record together with a mint mark reference.

SEE COINS FROM BOTH SIDES

Pages are sturdy dura-board with crystal-clear acetate slides to give two-side visibility and protection. Thumb notches make it easy to "open windows" for insertion or removal of coins.

NUMISMATIC REVIEW, Number 2, 1961

By the time you read this advertisement, the second issue of the Numismatic Review for 1961 should either be in the hands of our subscribers or will shortly be delivered to them. This issue will emphasize a rather unusual offering of Russian Coins, particularly the Rare Jefimki, or Russian countermarked European Dollars. A few are listed below. The group as a whole is one of the largest selections of these Necessity Rubles that has been available for some years. There is also an interesting selection of other Russian coins not ordinarily encountered.

Needless to say, we have not neglected other series. There is a large quantity of Talers of all kinds, Polish and Maltese coins, some British Colonial items and Byzantine silver and copper, all in choice condition. In addition you will find articles on aspects of the Russian and Byzantine coinage and a commentary on a very rare 18th Century Set of Polish Insignia of the Order of the White Eagle.

We would like to thank the many readers who have sent in their $2.00 Annual Subscription to the Review.

at your hobby dealer

Written by the late Edward T. Newell, a great scholar and international authority on Ancient Greece, this work has long been recognized as a standard reference in this field.

The new Whitman edition of this Classic presents in an interesting, easy-to-read style, a comprehensive study of the coins of Ancient Greece bearing portraits of kings with historical background, data on coinages and mints, and a complete chronological index by kings. 128 pages. Hardbound soil-resistant cover.

Having been out of print for over fifteen years, this book has been much sought after by collectors. It is profusely illustrated with actual photographs of the most beautiful specimens to be found in the world and contains information which cannot be found in any other book.

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL!
FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

On sale in many leading stores in 4-oz. bottles, with full directions, at $1.00.

If your dealer does not yet have it, send us $1.00 for 3-oz. bottle (enough to clean hundreds of coins) carefully packed and postpaid to any address in the United States or Canada.

SPECIAL OFFER TO DEALERS

Send $4.00 for six 4-oz. bottles of "CCC," postpaid.

RARE AND COMMON FOREIGN COINS

Your needs as an advanced collector are probably quite specialized. To truly assist YOU I have the coins, reference library and the necessary overseas connections.

No gold, but a fantastic listing of Ancient, medieval, renaissance and modern coins. Included are very many individual listings of British and Canadian tokens, German and French notgeld, Medals and other related items.

Conditions extend from Poor to Brilliant Proof—prices from 5¢ to $100.00 per coin. The advanced collector is not necessarily a Croesus. To buy from me he need not be.

My merchandise, listing methods and way of doing business is perhaps unique in America today. Interested? My supplementary lists are free for the asking.

My 1960-61 Annual Catalog is still available at $1.00 per copy. Although geared to a popular and more elementary level, the 175 illustrations not in C.W. or M.W.C. may help you. Attribution of just one, hitherto unknown coin, may repay the initial cost of your catalog.

In response to continual dealers inquiries, I do sometimes have special mixtures for you. Please do write me on your letterhead. There is always the possibility that I can help you.
